

This Cub team should be well trained when it starts the season. The men are not liable to start with a rush, for they are veterans, and realize that the campaign is over a stretch of six months, and condition must be maintained for that length of time. Being trained to the minute when the first bell rings often proves a handicap later.

If it were not for the fact that he is president, Woodrow Wilson might be classed as a "duffer" among golfers, according to George Sargent,
